Online Internship Opportunities

One-year Master student internship opportunities

According to our survey, the major factor considered by employers for returnees has already transferred from academic background to internship/work experience. Graduates with internship experience would averagely gain 10% more opportunities than graduates without internship experience.

However, for many one-year Mater program students, they cannot do summer internship while in summer classes or after graduation. The students will not be qualified for summer intern if they have already graduated.

What we can do is to provide online internship programs to help those studets gain internship experience. As the virus breaks through, many Chinese enterprises have decided to work from home; this means there is a high demand for interns. Lockin is currently designing an online internship program, which is available to start any time of student preference. It begins with one-month full internship preparation training and follows by three months internship that matches students' academic background. Internship Certificate will be given to each student who has completed their placement. We hope this program can be helpful to students who cannot return to China for summer internship.
